

Universität
Bremen

Day of Remembrance for the Victims of National Socialism

Monday, January 29, 2024 | 4 p.m. |
GW1 Building lecture hall

Prof. Dr. Sascha Feuchert | Professor of Modern German Literature with a focus on Holocaust and camp literature and its didactics at the Institute of German Studies, Justus-Liebig University Giessen

“Writing as Resistance: Texts from the Gettos and the Concentration Camps as Testimonies of Self-Assertion”

Monday, January 29, 2024 | 4 p.m. |

GW1 Building lecture hall

Day of Remembrance for the Victims of National Socialism

The University of Bremen is marking the Day of Remembrance of the Victims of National Socialism with a commemorative event. We invite all interested parties to the following talks (in German):

Talk by Prof. Dr. Sascha Feuchert | Professor of Modern German Literature with a focus on Holocaust and camp literature and its didactics at the Institute of German Studies, Justus-Liebig University Giessen

“Writing as Resistance: Texts from the Gettos and the Concentration Camps as Testimonies of Self-Assertion” (“Schreiben als Widerstand: Texte aus den Gettos und den KZs als Zeugnisse der Selbstbehauptung”)

Musical accompaniment by Sanaz Afzali

The university sees it as its duty and responsibility to honor the Day of Remembrance. In order to give members of the university the opportunity to participate, the Academic Senate has decided on a Dies Academicus for this event. We therefore recommend that teaching and work be suspended for this time.

Bremen, January 2024

Dr. Mandy Boehnke
Vice President for Internationality, Academic Qualification and Diversity

Prof. Dr. Marcus Callies
*Dean of Faculty 10
Linguistics and Literary Studies*