

Dear MIS-students,

We are pleased that you have decided to build on your bachelor's degree by enrolling in one of our master's programs. We have compiled some information on starting your master's studies in Management Information Systems in this document.

Uni-Start Portal and Orientation Week (“O-Woche“)

All offers for first-year students can be found on the Uni-Start Portal of the University of Bremen at

<https://www.uni-bremen.de/en/uni-start>

The faculty's orientation week events are listed under the heading "Introduction of the degree courses". An introduction to MIS takes place on Tuesday, October 11. Please check the Uni-Start Portal to see all the events you are invited to.

Facebook and Instagram

The Study Center has a presence on Facebook and on Instagram. On these pages, we post important dates, special event offers and tips & tricks for studying. Therefore, in order to always be up to date, we recommend to follow us:

<https://www.instagram.com/studienzentrumfb07/>

<https://www.facebook.com/StzWiWi/>

Currently, most posts are in German, but we are working on posting in English more often.

Technical Equipment

Since digitalized teaching formats might be part of your studies, you should be technically equipped to participate in videoconferences and have a stable internet connection. There are no extra rooms for attending digital lectures at the university.

Information Material

Initial information about our degree programs is available to all interested parties and students on the faculty homepage at <https://www.uni-bremen.de/en/wiwi>. In detail, this includes:

- Information brochures and module handbooks at <https://www.uni-bremen.de/en/wiwi/studies/downloads>
- Online course catalog at
<https://www.uni-bremen.de/en/wiwi/studies/masters-degree-programs/management-information-systems> (via Quicklinks)
- When compiling a timetable with your chosen lectures from the course catalog, you can use the study plan, which you can find in the Downloads section.
- Further useful information about your studies in the section “Studies” at <https://www.uni-bremen.de/en/wiwi/studies>

- Certain official documents are only available in German, as they are only legally binding in the official language. Translations of such documents and further information on the organization of your studies are available on the MIS webpage at
<https://www.uni-bremen.de/en/wiwi/studies/masters-degree-programs/management-information-systems>

Offers for International Students

If you are from a foreign country, the university's International Office is happy to provide you with useful information on living and studying in Germany. They collected some information, which may help you getting started in Bremen:

<https://www.uni-bremen.de/en/studies/starting-your-studies/offers-for-international-students>

During the Orientation Week a joint information event will take place at the faculty, during which the International Office will provide information and answer questions. Please check the Uni-Start Portal for details.

Have a good start to your master's studies!
