

Seminar: Modern Social Theory

Fall 2020

Tuesday 10-13, on campus, rooms see below (October 2020)

Tuesday 13-16, hybrid/online (from Nov. 2020 onwards)

VAK 08-351-1-MC1-1

Prof. Dr. Martin Nonhoff

Universität Bremen

Master International Relations: Global Governance and Social Theory

Module M C1: Modern Social Theory

Course Description

The purpose of the course is to discuss key questions of modern social theory by studying classic and contemporary texts that have shaped the current debate. On the basis of these texts, we will elaborate central concepts for the analysis and evaluation of modern societies. Topics for discussion include the methodological status of social theory, different characterizations of modern society, the relation of agency and structure, the critique of certain features of modern society and the relevance of the categories of race and gender. The course will serve as a general introduction to modern social theory – it does not require any previous knowledge of this field, but the willingness to engage with complex theoretical texts and their arguments.

Preparatory Reading

Elliot, Athony (2014): Routledge Handbook of Social and Cultural Theory. Milton Park, New York: Routledge.

Benzecry, Claudio E.; Krause, Monika; Reed, Isaac Ariail (ed.) (2017): Social Theory Now. Chicago: Chicago University Press.

Delanty, Gerard (2000): The Foundations of Social Theory: Origins and Trajectories, in: Bryan S. Turner (ed.): The Blackwell Companion to Social Theory, 2nd edition. Oxford: Blackwell, pp. 21-46.

Harrington, Austin (ed.) (2004): Modern Social Theory, Oxford: Oxford University Press.

Inglis, David; Thorpe, Christopher (ed.) (2020): An Invitation to Social Theory. 2nd edition. Cambridge: Polity Press.

Joas, Hans; Knöbl, Wolfgang (2009): Social Theory. Twenty Introductory Lectures. Cambridge University Press.

Contact:

Prof. Dr. Martin Nonhoff

Office Hours: in October 2020: 14 Oct 2020, 2-3pm;

from 3 Nov. to 15 Dec. 2020: each Tuesday 10-11am;

from 5 Jan. to 16 Feb. 2021: each Tuesday 10-11 am;

and by appointment

Please make an appointment for all meeting times with my secretary Peter Arnhold (arnhold@uni-bremen.de). Office hours take place via Zoom during the pandemic!

InIIS, Mary-Somerville-Str. 7, Room 7.2250

E-mail: martin.nonhoff@uni-bremen.de

Phone (office): 0421/218-67476

Phone (home): 0421/794 794 94

Additional Information for Teaching under Corona Conditions

In October 2020, “Modern Social Theory” will be taught in classroom. From November onwards, the plan is to teach in a hybrid mode, where a sub-group is present in the classroom, while the rest synchronously participates remotely and the sub-groups take turns in the roles of physically present and remote participants. (Teaching in-classroom throughout is not possible due to the lack of rooms, at least from November on, that are large enough to accommodate the whole group under the constraints of social distancing.)

You should remember, however, that changes in the situation caused by the pandemic may easily force revisions in this plan. In particular, it may turn out that the second phase has to be taught purely online.

During in-classroom teaching in October, there will be a couple of rules in regard to ventilating the rooms and wearing masks. I will inform you about them at the beginning of our first meeting.

Office hours (dates/times see page 1, bottom) will take place via Zoom. Please contact my secretary Peter Arnhold for appointments in my office hours (arnhold@uni-bremen.de). He keeps a running list of appointments for me. You will get the respective links for your Zoom login from me, usually on the day before a meeting is to take place.

Assignments and grading

In the three first semesters of the MAIR program, students take twelve classes altogether. Of these twelve classes, students must choose six in which they complete a “large” workload (for 9 credit points) and six with a “small” workload (for 6 credit points). It is recommended that you opt for two small and two large versions each semester. In the following, both workload versions of the class “Modern Social Theory” are described.

Please let me know your choice of workload for this class right after the Christmas break.

1. Small version of the seminar workload

In the course of the seminar, you will give a seminar presentation on one of the seminar readings and you will write position papers on two of the (other) texts. The presentation counts for 50 % of the seminar grade; each of the discussion papers counts for 25 %.

a) Seminar presentation

Every student will shortly introduce one or two of the texts (depending on text length). Presenters should prepare a written handout (please upload the handout to StudIP and make enough hard copies for those present in classroom!) that summarizes the key points of their seminar introduction and the main questions for the discussion. Handouts need an appropriate head and a bibliography of texts used. Page numbers are helpful for class discussion.

Unexcused failure to show up for a text presentation will result in a 5.0 grade for the presentation (fail).

b) Position papers on readings

Every student will write position papers (750-1000 words) on two of the texts. A position paper needs to show your position in regard to a text we discuss in class. This means that you should summarize the main lines of argument and then develop a critical discussion of the text. The summary should comprise at least one third of your paper, the discussion also at least one third. You can use the last third as you like, either for having a longer summary or a longer discussion. Ideally, your position paper should start with a short introduction of two or three sentences (one paragraph) that manages to describe the main thrust of what the text wants to say. And you should use references to page numbers whenever you reproduce important argumentative steps (not only when you use literal quotes). You do not need to use additional literature; the focus is completely on the text itself (it is, however, not forbidden to use additional literature).

The text should be thought of as having three goals: First, to help you focus your own thoughts about a text. Second, to help you in class to remember what the text said and what your own thoughts about it were. Third, it can serve as an excerpt that you can use for your entire academic career (that's why it's important to use page numbers, so that you find important stuff quickly in class and later on).

Students choose freely the two texts they write about, following these rules:

- You cannot write a position paper on the text that you present on.
- Of those texts marked with an asterisk you may only choose one for a position paper.
- Texts marked with two asterisks count for two position papers (they may have double length, too) if students choose to have them counted double.
- You are allowed to write a third position paper in order to improve your grades. A third position paper can cancel either half of the presentation grade or the grade of another position paper if the respective grade was worse.
- Papers written for the first session (Marx, Federici) may be re-written after grading.

2. Large version of the seminar workload

In case you opt for the “large version”, you will write a final paper in addition to a reduced in-class contribution.

a) In-class assignment(s)

Here, you must make a choice: Either you give a seminar presentation on one of the seminar readings; or you write two position papers. Details are given above. The in-class assignments will count for 25 % of the final grade (i.e. if you write position papers 12.5 % each).

b) Final paper

The final paper (4000-5000 words) is an in-depth discussion of one of the central debates touched upon in the seminar. Topics and first ideas will be presented at the last session of the seminar; in order to make this possible, abstracts must be uploaded to StudIP by 16 Jan 2021. An abstract will consist of roughly one page of text outline, a preliminary table of contents and a preliminary bibliography. The abstract itself will not be graded. Please come to the office hours for a preliminary discussion of your ideas, at best at some time in late November or early December. Final papers can be co-authored by two students (6000-8000 words). The final paper will count for 75 % of the final grade.

Deadlines and other Rules

1. Position papers are due until Monday, 10am before each seminar (via e-mail). Late submissions will not be counted.
2. The abstracts for the final papers must be uploaded to StudIP by 16 January 2021.
3. The final paper is due on 1 March 2021. Papers must be handed in as electronic (via e-mail) and as hard copy. Late submission of the electronic copy of the paper will result in a reduction of the grade as specified by the general rules of the MA program.
4. In order to pass the course, a student must pass all the assignments of the chosen seminar version (small/large workload), i.e. failed partial grades cannot be compensated for by other grades.

Seminar Overview

#	Date	Topic
1	6 Oct. 2020	Introduction and Seminar Organization
2	13 Oct. 2020	Capitalism, Exploitation and the Female Body: Marx, Federici
3	20 Oct. 2020	Modernity, Modernities: Weber, Eisenstadt
4	27 Oct. 2020	Modernity, Coloniality, Racism: Quijano, Mills
5	3 Nov. 2020	City Life and Acceleration: Simmel, Rosa
6	10 Nov. 2020	Capitalist Culture/Rationality Lost: Horkheimer and Adorno
7	17 Nov. 2020	Rationality Regained? Habermas, Haraway
8	24 Nov. 2020	Midterm Reflection: What Is and Why Do We Do Social Theory? Tully, Taylor
9	1 Dec. 2020	Performing the Self: Mead, Goffman
10	8 Dec. 2020	Action and Structure: Bourdieu, Giddens
11	15 Dec. 2020	Power and Subject(ivation): Foucault
	22/29 Dec. 2020	Christmas Break
12	5 Jan. 2021	Feminist Theory in Focus: Beauvoir, Butler
13	12 Jan. 2021	Queer Theory/Intersectionality: Rubin, Crenshaw
14	19 Jan. 2021	Final discussion and presentation of first ideas for term papers

Seminar: Modern Social Theory
Fall 2020

Prof. Dr. Martin Nonhoff
Universität Bremen

Detailed Reading List:

6.10.2020 Introduction and Seminar Organization

10-13 hrs. Room: GW 2, B2900

(1)

13.10.2020 Capitalism, Exploitation, and the Female Body

10-13 hrs. Room: GW 2, B3009

(2)

Readings:

Marx, Karl; Engels, Friedrich (2020[1848]): Manifesto of the Communist Party.
Marxists Internet Archive, 14-27, 34, 56-57. Download at:
<https://www.marxists.org/archive/marx/works/1848/communist-manifesto/index.htm> (29.9.2019).

(ATTENTION: The file of this reading contains many additional materials/ text passages. Mandatory reading encompasses only the pages given above.)

Federici, Silvia (2004): Caliban and the Witch. Women, The Body and Primitive Accumulation. New York: Autonomedia, 61-115.

Presentation(s):

20.10.2020 Modernity, Modernities

10-13 hrs. Room: GW 2, B3009

(3)

Readings:

*Weber, Max (2006): Puritanism and the Spirit of Capitalism, in: Sam Whimster (ed.): The Essential Weber, London: Routledge, 25-34.

*Weber, Max (2006): Prefatory Remarks to the Collected Essays in the Sociology of Religion, in: Sam Whimster (ed.): The Essential Weber, London: Routledge, 101-112.

Eisenstadt, Shmuel Noah (2000): Multiple Modernities, in: Daedalus 129/1: 1-29.

Presentation(s):

27.10.2020 Modernity, Coloniality, Racism

10-13 hrs. Room: IW3 0390

(4)

Readings:

Quijano, Anibal (2000): Coloniality of Power, Eurocentrism and Latin America, in: Neplanta. News from the South 1/3: 533-580.

Mills, Charles (1997): The Racial Contract. Ithaca: Cornell University Press, pp. 1-40.

Presentation(s):

3.11.2020 City Life and Acceleration

13-16 hrs.
(5)
Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)

Readings:

*Simmel, Georg (2005): The Metropolis and Mental Life, in: Gary Bridge/
Sophie Watson (eds.): The Blackwell City Reader, Oxford: Blackwell, 11-19.
Rosa, Hartmut (2003): Social Acceleration, in: Constellations, 10/1, 3-33.

Presentation(s):

10.11.2020 Capitalist Culture/Rationality Lost

13-16 hrs.
(6)
Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)

Reading:

Horkheimer, Max; Adorno, Theodor W. (2002 [1944]): The Culture Industry: Enlightenment as Mass Deception, in: Max Horkheimer and Theodor W. Adorno: Dialectic of Enlightenment: Philosophical Fragments, Stanford: Stanford University Press, 94-136.

Presentation(s):

17.11.2020 Rationality Regained?

13-16 hrs.
(7)
Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)

Readings:

Habermas, Jürgen (1987): The Philosophical Discourse of Modernity. Cambridge/MA: Polity Press, 341-367. (The file of this reading contains the entire chapter XII, pp. 336-367; mandatory reading is only pp. 341-367.)

Haraway, Donna (1988): "Situated Knowledges: The Science Question in Feminism and the Privilege of Partial Perspective", in: Feminist Studies 14/3: 575-599

Presentation(s):

24.11.2020 Midterm Reflection: What Is and Why Do We Do Social Theory?

13-16 hrs.
(8)
Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)

Readings:

Taylor, Charles (1985): Social Theory as Practice, in: id.: Philosophy and the Human Sciences. Cambridge: Cambridge University Press, pp. 91-115.
Tully, James (2002): Political Philosophy as a Critical Activity, in: Political Theory 30/4, pp. 533-555.

Presentation(s):

1.12.2020 Performing the Self

13-16 hrs.
(9)
Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)

Readings:

Mead, George H. (1934): Mind, Self and Society from the Standpoint of a Social Behaviorist (edited by Charles W. Morris). Chicago: University of Chicago Press, 152-164, 173-178, 214-222.
Goffman, Erving (1959): The Presentation of Self in Everyday Life. New York: Anchor Books, 1-30, 248-255.

Presentation(s):

8.12.2020 Action and Structure

13-16 hrs.
(10)
Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)

Readings:

Giddens, Anthony (1984): The Constitution of Society. Outline of the Theory of Structuration. Cambridge: Polity Press, 1-40.
Bourdieu, Pierre (1999): Structures, Habitus, Practice, in: Elliot, Anthony (ed.): Contemporary Social Theory. Malden, Oxford: Blackwell, 107-118.

Presentation(s):

- 15.12.2020 Power and Subject(ivation)
 13-16 hrs. Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)
 (11)
- Readings:
 Foucault, Michel (2004[1976]): Lecture of 14 January 1976, in: Michel Foucault:
Society Must Be Defended. London: Penguin, 23-42.
 Foucault, Michel (1978 [1976]): The History of Sexuality. Volume I: An Introduction. Translated by Robert Hurley. New York: Pantheon Books, 135–159 (Part V).
- Presentation(s):
- 22./29.12.2020 Christmas Break
- 5.1.2021 Feminist Theory in Focus
 13-16 hrs. Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)
 (12)
- Readings:
 *Beauvoir, Simone de (2010[1949]): The Second Sex. London: Vintage, 3-18.
 Butler, Judith (2004): "Gender Regulations", in: Judith Butler: *Undoing
 Gender*. New York, Milton Park: Routledge, 40-56.
- Presentation(s):
- 12.1.2021 Queer Theory/Intersectionality
 13-16 hrs. Room: UNICOM 7.2210 (small group)/online (larger group)
 (13)
- Readings:
 Rubin, Gayle S. (1999 [1984]): Thinking Sex. Notes for a Radical Theory of the Politics of Sexuality, in: Richard Guy Parker and Peter Aggleton (ed.),
Culture, Society and Sexuality. A Reader. London/Philadelphia: UCL Press, 143–178.
 Crenshaw, Kimberlé (1989): Demarginalizing the Intersection of Race and Sex: A Black Feminist Critique of Antidiscrimination Doctrine, Feminist Theory and Antiracist Politics, in: The University of Chicago Legal Forum
 1989, 139-167.
- Presentation(s):
- 19.1.2021 Final Discussion/Presentation of Term Paper Abstracts
 13-16 hrs. Online (entire class)
 (14)