Beschreibung:

Description:

This is an introductory course for screenwriting. No prior writing experience is required for this class. You will be taught all the tools you need to be able to write and understand how a screenplay works. This class is conducted like a workshop with weekly screenwriting assignments of short scenes as well as in-class feedback and instruction. The final assignment will be a sequence of scenes as a short film. Once you have completed this course you will have all the basic tools you need to be able to understand how a film works structurally, as well as how to write a feature length film script.
