Beschreibung:

Description: Module A.3 "Digital literacy" (compulsory module) comprises the two courses „Media and Communication Ethics“ and "Media and Education". Seminar 2 "Media and Education" is dedicated to the topic of learning and the mediation of information and competences in a digitalised and datafied society. In addition to classical learning in kindergartens and schools and the traditional transfer of knowledge to further education institutions such as universities, there are numerous opportunities for learning and self-expertization. Possible questions are: What opportunities and challenges do 'massive open online courses' (moocs) offer? What role do pedagogues play at a time when many skills are taught online? The seminar will provide an overview of relevant Theories and concepts, the discussion and critical reflection of current case studies.
