Curtain Up for the First Ever Uni Bremen Equality Slam

At the first Equality Slam, women* text artists will slam for and against everything that has ever preyed on their mind: stereotypes, gender clichés, obstacles and hurdles on the path to studying at the uni and throughout academia. Experience women* spoken word poets, women* slam poets, and comediennes*, who will amaze, impress, excite you and make you ponder. The award-winning comediienne, actress, and YouTuber Idil Baydar alias Jilet Ayşe will take you through a truly poetic program.

There are only winners at this contest marking the university's 50th anniversary. We are subverting the seemingly unavoidable achievement principle in education and science and will stand up against it together instead of going against one another. In the end, equal opportunities and diversity will win!

The Equality Slam is supported by:

ArcTrain, EASE, Energy Transfers in Atmosphere and Ocean, Global Dynamics of Social Policy, Models of Gravity, Prozesssignaturen, QM³
