

An International Focus on Student Drop-Out

Data analysis, tools and support services

International Staff
Training Week II Edition

12th – 15th
October, 2026

Registration deadline
June 5th, 2026

further information:
staff-exchange@polimi.it

POLITECNICO
MILANO 1863

An International Focus on Student Drop-Out

Data analysis, tools and support services

Language: English

In contemporary Higher Education, student drop-out represents a multifaceted challenge that requires an integrated response. The initiative is aimed at exploring how rigorous data collection and analysis inform institutional strategies to foster student wellbeing while ensuring persistence and long-term academic success.

Key topics will include:

- Scientific framework and theoretical perspectives
- Data analysis and monitoring tools
- Institutional actions and support services
- Impact evaluation and strategic developments

Open to technical and administrative staff:

- Involved in management and use of information systems, data analysis and reporting
- Working in broader student support services
- Curious to learn from others and bring back ideas adaptable to local contexts

Partecipazione form

There is no registration fee. Kindly be advised that participants are responsible for their own accommodation arrangements and expenses. A curated list of housing options from which you can easily choose will be made available.

