

Job Offer

For more than 30 years, Rösler develops and distributes hardware and software to collect usage data from mobile machines, such as construction machines, industrial trucks, platforms, etc.

We are looking for a Python developer to join our team.

Your tasks

- Development, extension and maintenance of Python applications.

Your profile

You

- are pursuing a degree in computer science
- are at the beginning of your studies
- have experience with Python, JavaScript / jQuery, MySQL, HTML5
- you are team player
- you are open for new challenges

If you are interested to work part-time during your studies and become part of our innovative team, please visit us on level 3 stand 24 at the job fair or send us your application via email.

Starting date: immediate